

CELEBRITY ESTATES

From the Top

ARIZONA

SEDONA, ARIZONA

$29 MILLION

Built into red rocks, this 6,700-square-foot home tops our list. The approximately 160-acre El Rojo Grande Ranch would make an excellent equestrian facility, with features such as a corral barn, box stall barn, show arena stalls and corrals equaling 92,000 square feet. The property abuts National Forest Service land and includes an additional guesthouse and caretaker's quarters. Picture windows frame the magnificent red rocks and mountain vistas. You can also enjoy the views from the many terraces, patios and a pool.

Source: Greenfield & Weens, Russ Lyon Realty Company of Sedona, Sedona, Ariz.

PARADISE VALLEY, ARIZONA

$23 MILLION

On approximately 5 acres near the renowned Sanctuary Resort and Spa, this property offers views of the McDowell, Superstition, Four Peaks and Camelback Mountains. The main house features a chef's kitchen with an adjacent butler's pantry, a library and an office. There is a two-bedroom, two-bath guest suite with a living room and kitchenette. The covered patio with fireplaces and a barbecue, and the ramada with an outdoor fireplace, pool, pool bath and tennis court provide plenty of options for entertaining.

Source: Ellie Shapiro, Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, Phoenix, Ariz.

TUCSON, ARIZONA

$22 MILLION

On 20 acres, in the foothills of the Catalina Mountains, is Campbell Cliffs. The home offers a commercial kitchen, home theater, gym, wine cellar, a multilevel pool area and two elevators. The master bedroom wing features three sitting areas, his-and-her baths, a deluge shower with unlimited hot water, and a hidden stairwell up to the private 600-square-foot sundeck. It includes an Olympic-sized underground gun or archery range, a dark room and a two-car detailing center.

Source: Martha Briggs, Long Realty Company, Tucson, Ariz.

—Jamie Grill

Rapper 50 Cent (Curtis James Jackson III) has placed his Farmington, Conn., home on the market for $18.5 million. Mike Tyson owned the 50,000-plus-square-foot estate before Jackson acquired it and it is a true entertainer's paradise. The terrace level includes gaming tables, two billiard rooms, an indoor swimming pool, handball court, a spectacular night club with a DJ booth and 20-screen video wall, a professional gym and, of course, a recording studio. It also boasts a 40-person hot tub, full basketball/tennis court and 19 bedrooms. Source: Debi Orr & Steve Scott, The Home Vision Group, Keller Williams Realty, Ridgefield, Conn.

Actress Barbara Bel Geddes's home, "Summerplace", is on the market for $3.8 million. The Northeast Harbor, Maine, home offers mesmerizing views from its superb waterfront location. Built in 1960 on land once owned by John D. Rockefeller, the home was extensively renovated in 1989. The approximately 3,000-square-foot residence has three bedrooms and two and one-half baths. With 400 feet of shore frontage, approximately 1.75 acres and a location next to land protected by a land trust, this property offers privacy that is hard to come by in this area.

Source: Linda Jonas & Janet Moore, The Swan Agency Sotheby's International Realty, Northeast Harbor, ME.

Actor Terry O'Quinn has listed his Haleiwa, Hawaii, hideaway for $2.94 million. The 1.17-acre property offers a private Northshore lifestyle. There are five bedrooms, six baths and a total of 5,335 square feet of living space. There is a large master bedroom complete with an office, a large family room with a fireplace, a workout room, media room, and open and enclosed lanai. The gorgeous heated in-ground pool and spa outside offer postcard-picture views. There is an additional guest cottage with rental income and a separate service entrance. Source: Curtis J. Jackson, Mary Worrall Associates, Sotheby's International Realty, Honolulu, HI.

—Jamie Grill